

Book Talk & Signing

Special Collections Presents: Back There, Then: A HISTORICAL, GENEALOGICAL MEMOIR

Have you done genealogy research? Have you considered publishing?
Hear a local researcher explain the process from start to finish.
Questions welcomed and encouraged!

Recorded by Marietta Crichlow, this book chronicles stories of some Glovers, Garlands, Stevens, Crichlows and others....beginning before the Civil War and tied to Nelson County; Appomattox County; and Lynchburg, Virginia; and continuing in the 20th century to Boston; Duquesne, Pennsylvania, and Washington, DC-notably the LeDroit Park and Petworth neighborhoods. Marietta and family are descended from people who were enslaved by Wilmer McLean in Manassas and Appomattox Court House in Virginia. It was in Wilmer McLean's home in Appomattox that Robert E. Lee surrendered to Ulysses S. Grant in 1865. Our ancestors were there. The stories therein tell some of the trails the family took over the ensuing years.

Saturday, October 25th, 2014 1:30 PM

Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Library
901 G Street NW, Washington D.C. 20001
Black Studies Center, Room 316

Questions? Call, email or visit us online:

John Muller | john.muller@dc.gov
(202) 727-1213 | www.dclibrary.org/mlk

dclibrary.org